

IOWA

SUMMER 2024 DEPARTMENT OF ANTHROPOLOGY ARCHAEOLOGICAL FIELD SCHOOL

Join us for four weeks of archaeological fieldwork at Native American sites in the Great Plains!

Our work in western Kansas investigates residential camps once occupied by a multiethnic community of Plains Apache and Puebloan people. This will be an intensive hands-on learning experience in archaeological survey, total station and GPS mapping, and excavation techniques. The UI Department of Anthropology can offer modest financial support to some participants.

- May 13-June 6, 2024
- 3 sh credit available (ANTH:3295)
- Open to all students (no prerequisite)
- Estimated In-state Tuition for all: ~$1555
- Estimated Course fees: ~$1299.50
- Dept. Scholarship available

Questions?? Contact Matthew Hill (matthew-e-hill@uiowa.edu)